Overview

Ben Pope represents employers in a broad range of employment matters arising under state and federal laws. His practice primarily focuses on issues involving:

- The Fair Labor Standards Act
- The Sarbanes-Oxley Act
- The Dodd-Frank Act
- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964
- The Americans with Disabilities Act
- The Age Discrimination in Employment Act
- The Family and Medical Leave Act
- The Occupational Safety and Health Act
- Contingent workers and independent contractors
- Other state and federal laws governing employment relationships

For nearly twenty years, Ben has successfully defended lawsuits alleging single plaintiff and class claims, including alleged class-wide wage hour violations, systemic discrimination, and retaliation for purported violations of securities laws. He has obtained defense verdicts in jury trials in both federal and state courts. Ben has also represented clients before various federal and state agencies, including the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the National Labor

Relations Board, the Department of Labor and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. He has defended clients against claims involving:

- Whistleblower allegations
- Wage and hour and overtime violations
- Wrongful termination
- Discrimination
- Harassment
- Equal pay
- Unfair competition
- Theft of trade secrets
- Intentional infliction of emotional distress
- Invasion of privacy
- Breach of contract
- Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO)

In law school, Ben served as an editor on the Georgia Journal of International and Comparative Law. He also was a member of the Moot Court Board and was named Best Oralist and received awards for Best Brief and Best Team at the 2002 Intrastate Competition.
