Overview

Brian M. Hentosz represents employers in wage and hour litigation and traditional labor matters throughout the country.

In his wage and hour practice, Brian represents employers in class and collective actions brought under the Fair Labor Standards Act and state wage and hour laws. He has defended employers in the construction, energy, financial services, restaurant, retail, sports and entertainment, and transportation industries. He has significant experience defending against allegations of:

- Exemption misclassification
- Unpaid overtime
- Off-the-clock, preliminary and postliminary unpaid time, and meal and rest break violations
- Independent contractor misclassification
- Unlawful tip pooling, tip sharing, and tip credit practices

Brian's traditional labor practice focuses on:

- Proceedings before the National Labor Relations Board and the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board

- Collective bargaining
- Grievance arbitrations
- Labor contract administration
- Strikes and picketing
- Union election campaigns
- Corporate transactions

Additionally, Brian regularly counsels clients on labor and employment compliance issues, including:

- Employee handbooks and policies
- Discipline and termination issues
- Wage and hour compliance
- Union avoidance
- Implementing lawful reductions-in-force
- Conducting investigations
- Severance agreements

Brian served as the symposium editor of the Tulane Law Review. Prior to attending law school, he worked in the planning and allocation department at the corporate headquarters of a large retailer. As an undergraduate, he was a member of the Villanova football team.
