Overview

Darren E. Nadel represents employers nationally in complex litigation and employment law. He represents clients in high risk, high value cases involving trade secrets and unfair competition, employee benefits litigation and whistleblower and Sarbanes Oxley matters.

Darren has represented employers in litigation brought under:

- Trade secrets and unfair competition laws
- The Employee Retirement Income Security Act
- Sarbanes-Oxley and other whistleblower laws
- Wage and hour laws
- Anti-discrimination laws
- Various common law theories

Darren frequently presents and recently authored materials on employment law topics including the various agreements employers enter into with their executives and employees, trade secrets and unfair competition litigation, and ERISA litigation.

Prior to joining Littler Mendelson, Darren worked as in-house counsel at a Fortune 100 company where he served as vice president responsible for employment and labor law. That experience gives him a unique insight into working with his clients to understand and help them realize their corporate goals.
