Overview

Dominique Thomas focuses her practice on workplace privacy, ERISA, and employment litigation. She represents and counsels clients on all aspects of workplace privacy and information security. Dominique is a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP/US), a credential issued by the International Association of Privacy Professionals (IAPP), which demonstrates her understanding of broad global and U.S. privacy law.

A former federal prosecutor with experience in all aspects of trial practice, Dominique also represents plan sponsors, trustees, fiduciaries, service providers, and other clients facing a range of employee benefits litigation. As part of her national practice, Dominique defends employers in single-plaintiff and class actions involving discrimination, harassment, wrongful termination, pay equity, and retaliation claims.
