Overview

Jennifer C. Znosko is an experienced employment attorney whose practice extends to numerous areas of litigation and employment counseling. As a seasoned attorney and former human resources professional, Jen brings a unique and valuable perspective to any employment or personnel challenge faced by her clients.

Wage and Hour/Class Actions

The primary focus of Jen's employment practice is wage and hour law. Jen's extensive experience in wage and hour law includes:

- Litigation - Defending employers in class/collective actions asserting minimum wage and overtime claims and misclassification claims under the Missouri Minimum Wage Law and the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA)
- Client Counseling - Counseling clients on pay practices that comply with the requirements of Missouri, Illinois, and federal law, and the implementation of practices that reduce the risks of wage and hour disputes
- Audits - Conducting audits and providing counseling advice related to the proper classification of employees as exempt under the FLSA, including the new white collar regulations that were scheduled to go into effect in December of 2016

- Contingent Workforce - Litigating numerous lawsuits in various federal district courts regarding the proper classification of workers as independent contractors or employees, and counseling clients regarding the benefits and risks in maintaining a contingent workforce
- Presentations - Frequently speaks on wage and hour developments and compliance

Notably, Jen obtained dismissal of straight time claims under the FLSA asserted by plaintiffs in two different collective/class action lawsuits pending in the District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri. In one of these cases, the judge also granted a motion for decertification of a conditionally-certified collective under the FLSA.

Discrimination and Harassment

In addition to her wage and hour practice, Jen regularly litigates discrimination and retaliation claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Missouri Human Rights Act and the Illinois Human Rights Act in federal courts and state courts in Missouri and Illinois. She has handled all stages of the litigation process including:

- Formulating defense strategies
- Taking and defending depositions
- Preparing and arguing dispositive motions
- Representing employers at mediation and negotiating settlements

Jen has conducted fact investigations, prepared position statements, represented witnesses during agency interviews, and represented employers during fact-finding conferences and mediations before administrative agencies such as the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Missouri Commission on Human Rights and the Illinois Department of Human Rights.

Hiring, Performance Management and Termination

Jen regularly advises employers on various human resources matters, including:

- Maintaining a compliant hiring process
- Administering discipline
- Conducting investigations
- Discharging employees, including reductions-in-force
- Responding to requests for leaves of absence under the Family Medical Leave Act
- Navigating requests for accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act
- Reviewing and revising employee handbooks and other policy manuals
- Maintaining and administering drug testing policies

As a former human resources professional, Jen partners with her clients and provides practical solutions to workforce management challenges encountered by employers. She is certified as a Professional in Human Resources® (PHR) by the Human Resources Certification Institute.

Representative Industries

Jen has experience working with clients in numerous national and global industries, including:

- Telecommunications
- Logistics and distribution
- Transportation
- Retail
- Non-profit
- Manufacturing

Professional Experience

After law school, Jen served as a law clerk for the Hon. Mary R. Russell of the Supreme Court of Missouri. While at the University of Missouri School of Law, she was the managing editor of the Missouri Law Review, and a member of the regional mock trial and regional moot court teams.
