Overview

Joy Cho advises and represents employers in all matters of labor and employment law.

Joy graduated Loyola Law School, with honors, with a corporate law concentration. During law school, Joy was a member of the National Moot Court team, served on the Scott Moot Court Honors Board, and was a semifinalist for Transactional Negotiation Competition. She was vice president of the Asian Pacific American Law Students Association and was a student representative of the Korean American Bar Association of Southern California. Joy also partook in an Employment Rights Clinic, where she recommended outcomes for employment retaliation claims filed with the California Division of Labor Standards Enforcement.

She served as a judicial extern for the Hon. Elaine Lu of the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles. Joy also gained experience as a summer associate in Littler's Los Angeles office.
