Overview

Kelsey A. VanOverloop focuses her practice on counseling management clients on labor and employment law matters.

Prior to joining Littler, Kelsey represented clients in corporate matters, employment discrimination cases, and civil rights actions while with a boutique law firm in Chicago. Previously, she served for three years as a law clerk; first as a chambers clerk for the Hon. Stephen H. Glickman of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, and then as a staff law clerk for the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. In the latter capacity, Kelsey assisted all of the Seventh Circuit's judges with deciding complex civil and criminal appeals. She was also selected to be a member of the court's habeas corpus unit, evaluating post-conviction petitions for state and federal prisoners.
