Overview

Mark W. Robbins has been exclusively engaged in the practice of labor and employment law since 1976. He has extensive experience in:

- Union organizing and corporate campaigns
- Collective bargaining
- Strikes and picketing
- Arbitrations
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Layoff and restructuring analysis
- Business restructuring, including WARN and OWBPA compliance
- Wrongful discharge litigation
- Employment discrimination and retaliation
- Workplace harassment
- Leaves of absence and reasonable accommodation
- Development and review of employee handbooks and personnel policies
- Wage and hour matters
- Performance management and termination advice

He regularly appears in federal and state courts and before the National Labor Relations Board, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Department of Labor, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, the California Department of Fair Employment and Housing, and the California Department of Labor Standards Enforcement. He has specific knowledge of the following statutes:

- The National Labor Relations Act
- The Americans with Disabilities Act
- The Age Discrimination in Employment Act
- The Family and Medical Leave Act
- Title VII
- The Fair Labor Standards Act
- The WARN Act
- The OWBPA
- The California Fair Employment and Housing Act
- State WARN acts
- The California Labor Code
- City and County Living Wage Ordinances

Among his notable successes, Mark successfully defended a supermarket client against a lawsuit filed by employees arising out of the closure of its central baking plant where significant financial demands were at stake.

Additionally, Mark is an experienced speaker who has participated in panel discussions and lectured before business groups and associations.

Mark represents both for-profit and non-profit employers in a wide range of industries, including:

- Health care, including hospitals, skilled nursing facilities and community health centers
- Media
- Entertainment
- Manufacturing
