Overview

An attorney in Littler Mendelson's Knowledge Management Department, Meghann J. Barloewen focuses on employee benefits issues, monitoring regulatory and legislative developments for health and welfare benefit plans and retirement plans. She creates and manages legal and electronic resources in an effort to provide innovative client services in all areas of labor and employment law

As Knowledge Management Counsel, Meghann leans upon her extensive employment litigation experience in defending employers in a broad range of employment matters, including:

- Wrongful termination
- Retaliation
- Harassment
- Discrimination
- Wage and hour concerns

She has represented employers in litigation matters before state and federal courts and administrative agencies in all areas of employment law. Meghann has also counseled employers of all sizes in day-to-day employment relations issues such as:

- Hiring, discipline and termination of employees
- Downsizing
- Workplace violence
- Compliance with all state and federal employment laws

While in law school, Meghann was a judicial extern for the Honorable Judge Vincent P. Zurzolo, in the United States District Court for the Central District of California. She also served as chief research editor on Loyola's International and Comparative Law Review.
