Overview

A former Justice of the Brazilian Superior Labor Court (TST), Márcio Eurico Vitral Amaro has deep experience handling strategic and highly complex cases throughout Brazil. In coordination with other Chiode Minicucci partners, he is helping lead the firm's Workplace Policy practice, which was created in response to recent changes to the Law Practice Statute. The practice is focused on strategic work carried out alongside policymakers in Congress, public administration and regulatory agencies, with the purpose of assisting companies in working with Congress and Public Authorities in the preparation of legislative, administrative and regulatory rules in international, national and state matters.

He entered the judiciary in 1987 at the Regional Labor Court of the 10th Region. Upon the disintegration of this Court, he became a judge at the Regional Labor Court of the 24th Region and served as their first president. After serving at the TST as a judge on summons, he was appointed as a Justice of the Court and served in that role for nearly 15 years.

Márcio Eurico Vitral Amaro is a Partner in Chiode Minicucci Advogados, an independent law firm that serves as correspondent counsel to Littler in appropriate matters, in compliance with rules governing such arrangements issued by the Bar authorities and the courts of Brazil.
