Overview

Oren Barbalat provides strategic advice and solutions to employers across various industries, including technology, marketing, healthcare, and professional services. He combines a tailored approach to domestic and international business with a deep understanding of the ever-evolving landscape of Canadian employment law.

Oren maintains a robust litigation practice, appearing before courts, tribunals, mediators and arbitrators across Ontario and the rest of Canada. Oren is a tenacious advocate for clients inside and outside of the courtroom. With his prior experience representing employees in high profile and contentious matters, Oren brings a well-rounded perspective to the resolution of workplace disputes.

His work includes:

- Employment contracts / contractor agreements
- Employment litigation
- Wrongful dismissal litigation
- Leaves to appeal
- Group termination / reduction in force
- Contractor disputes
- Employment standards

- Human rights
- Arbitrations
- Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)
