Overview

Patrycja Geca advises clients on a variety of labor and employment matters. She first joined Littler as a summer student and returned as an articling student before becoming a licensed attorney.

During law school, Patrycja was a student caseworker with both Capital Rainbow Refuge and the University of Ottawa Community Legal Clinic. She also volunteered with Pro Bono Ontario as a triage coordinator at the Law Help Center. The first in her family to attend post-secondary school and law school, Patrycja served as an events coordinator with the Ottawa Law Students First Generation Network.

Patrycja was an associate editor with the Ottawa Law Review, and legal writing leader with the Legal Writing Academy while attending the University of Ottawa.
