Overview

Anne Werschmann advises clients on employment law restructuring, co-determination and collective bargaining law as well as contract drafting and review. Thanks to her positive attitude and solution-oriented approach, she achieves pragmatic and realistic solutions. She makes clear recommendations and takes a focused approach. As an enthusiastic restaurant critic, she has long-term conflict resolution in mind and meets new people, difficult issues and complex negotiations with joy and openness, always using her interpersonal skills for the benefit of her clients.

Anne completed a legal traineeship with stations at Meyer Arbeitsrecht and the legal department of Axel Springer SE (Employment & Labor Law) in Berlin, second state law examination at the Higher Regional Court of Hamm in 2021, and first state law examination at the Hanseatic Higher Regional Court in 2019.

Anne studied law with a focus on labor, economics and social affairs at Bucerius Law School in Hamburg and at Kyushu University in Fukuoka, Japan.
