Overview

Charlotte Main is a legal innovator and legacy member of the Littler team that developed the firm's award-winning Littler CaseSmart (LCS) and Littler onDemand (LoD) platforms. Providing employers with client-dedicated teams, streamlined processes, and unparalleled dashboard reporting, LCS and LoD enhance Littler's partnership with clients, delivering cost-conscious and data-driving employment litigation and advice and counsel services.

In her current role, Charlotte routinely consults with clients to identify how Littler can best meet their needs, whether through traditional service models, the firm's innovations, or a custom combination of Littler's resources. Charlotte also speaks on issues related to legal innovation, data reporting and analytics, legal process management, and pricing of legal services. Among others, she has been published in the International Legal Technology Association's Peer to Peer Magazine.

Charlotte has provided counsel across a wide-range of employment matters and successfully represented her clients in single-plaintiff employment litigation and jury trials in federal and state courts across the country. Today, she oversees teams of Littler attorneys who defend and resolve thousands of administrative agency charges in every U.S. jurisdiction.

Committed to her community and environmental sustainability, Charlotte is a member of the firm's Environmental Working Group. She is an avid "birder" who supports local nonprofit organizations that rehabilitate injured and orphaned native wildlife.

Charlotte joined Littler in August 2001. She was executive editor of the Loyola Consumer Law Review and flexed her former All-American college debate team skills as a member of the National Moot Court Team and the American Bar Association Moot Court Team.
