Overview

Christine A. Kohler represents small to large businesses in a wide variety of employment litigation matters pending in state and federal courts, as well as in arbitration and before state and federal government agencies. Christine is an experienced litigator who routinely and successfully defends employers against claims for discrimination, harassment, wrongful termination, retaliation, defamation, and other related issues. She has extensive experience representing employers in the healthcare, financial services, and retail industries.

Prior to joining Littler, Christine practiced law at a large multiservice national law firm where she represented employers in litigation and counseled businesses on day-to-day employment issues such as leaves of absence, reasonable accommodations, discipline, discharge, and other personnel matters.

During law school, Christine was a member of the Southern California Interdisciplinary Law Journal and served as an extern to the Hon. Wm. Matthew Byrne, Jr., U.S. District Court, Central District of California.
